Product description

The LED matrix headlight offered here is an original part for the Porsche 911, specifically for the 992.2 model. It is for the left side of the vehicle, ideal for replacing or upgrading the existing headlight. This state-of-the-art lighting unit bears the OEM numbers 992941039AG and 992941039AD, confirming its authenticity and compatibility with the corresponding vehicle model.

The LED matrix technology in this headlight offers exceptional lighting quality and improved visibility compared to conventional headlights. It automatically adapts to the driving environment to ensure optimum illumination of the road without dazzling oncoming vehicles. This significantly increases safety when driving at night.

The condition of the headlight is described as used but very good. It is undamaged and comes directly from original Porsche parts, which ensures its quality and durability. This headlight is an excellent choice for owners of a Porsche 911 model 992 who value original parts and advanced technology.
